KATALOG RAZSTAVE

Iz muzejskih zbirk

Razstava Iz muzejskih zbirk predstavlja različne predmete, ki jih muzej hrani v svojih depojih in so praviloma obiskovalcem muzeja nedostopni. Z razstavo, ki naj bi se ponavljala vsako leto, želimo skozi zgodbe različnih muzejskih predmetov približati delo, vlogo in pomen muzeja najširšemu krogu javnosti.

Kaj sploh so muzejski predmeti? Muzejski predmet je predmet z zgodbo, zgodbe predmeta pa so lahko različne: zgodba lastnika predmeta, zgodba časa, v katerem je predmet nastal ali se uporabljal, zgodba o materialu, zgodba obrti, s katero je predmet povezan, zgodba simbolov, ki jo nosi predmet s sabo, zgodba o uporabnosti predmeta in še bi lahko naštevali.

Podlaga za izbor predmetov letošnje razstave je predstaviti predmete, ki so bili sestavnji del življenja posameznikov. Za časa življenja lastnikov so bili ti predmeti sami po sebi umevni, mogoče celo neopazni, danes pa nam obujajo spomine, pripovedujejo zgodbe o družinah, navadah, značajih in rokodelskih znanjih.

Tokrat izpostavljamo predmete iz muzejske zbirke ribniških družin: Arko (p. d. Miklovi), Klun (p. d. Bukovčanovi), Šmalc ter iz zbirke Suha roba in lončarstvo. Iz zbirke Suha roba in lončarstvo smo izpostavili predmete, ki niso uvrščeni na stalno razstavo v prostorih ribniškega gradu, a s svojo povednostjo razkrivajo še eno pomembno plat rokodelskih veščin tukajšnjih prednikov.

Zbirka Arko - Miklovi je najbogatejša zbirka, saj je potomka Irena Arko Muzeju Ribnica predala veliko predmetov povezanih s svojo družino. V zbirki najdemo različne predmete – nakit, razglednice, oblačila, pohištvo, gostilniški inventar in ostale osebne predmete. Tokrat predstavljamo droben segment zbirke Miklove družine – komplet za pripravo kave – ki je spremljal Miklove skozi generacije. Pitje kave, ki je nekoč predstavljal luksuz ali mogoče celo statusni simbol, je danes nekaj povsem vsakdanjega, še vedno pa je skodelica kave ostala svojevrstni obred in razlog za druženje ter klepet.

Posebno zanimiva je zgodba pisalne mize, ki nosi podpis lastnika: J. Klun, trgovina z mešanim blagom in deželnimi pridelki v Ribnici, kar se je odkrilo letos ob selitvi predmetov v nove depoje. S tem se je potrdilo lastništvo mize. Zaradi tega in vloge Bukovčanove družine v zgodovini ribniškega trga, ki pa predmetno ni zastopana v naših zbirkah, smo mizo uvrstili v program razstave in v ta namen tudi konzervatorsko-restavratorsko prenovili.

Pri predstavitvi različnih sklopov predmetov dodajamo tudi obsežnejšo zgodbo, ki jo pripoveduje soudeleženec zgodbe, oseba sama ali sorodnik. Na ta način želimo v seriji večletnih razstav predstaviti posameznike in družine iz zgodovine Ribnice, ki nosijo s sabo velike zgodbe, a so le-te pogosto pozabljljene, zapostavljene, izgubljene.

Tokrat se predstavlja zgodba dr. Matevža Šmalca (1888–1960), rojenega v ribniško vrvarsko družino. Bil je prevajalec, esejist, literarni kritik, jezikoslovec, prvi tajnik Slovenske univerze. Spomine na strica Matevža je za nas zbrala in zapisala njegova nečakinja Tatjana Angerer.

From Museum Collections

The exhibition From Museum Collections presents a variety of items that are housed in the depots of the Museum of Ribnica and are generally inaccessible to museum visitors. With this exhibition, which is to be held every year, we aim to make the work carried out by the museum, its role and significance known to as many people as possible and thus present the stories of various museum objects.

What are museum objects in the first place? Museum objects are items with various background stories: stories about the owners of said objects, stories about the time during which the objects were created or used, stories about the materials used, stories about the crafts which the objects are related to, stories about the symbols born by the objects, stories about the usefulness of objects and so on.

The basis for the selection of items for this year's exhibition is to present the objects that used to be an integral part of individuals' everyday lives and that were during the course of their owners' lives considered ordinary, were perhaps even hardly noticed, whereas today they evoke memories and tell stories about families, habits, personalities and craft skills.

The focus of the present exhibition is on objects from the museum collection related to the local families – the Arko family (informal name 'Miklovi'), the Klun family (informal name 'Bukovčani') and the Šmalc family, as well as the Woodenware and Pottery collection.

Among the objects from the Woodenware and Pottery collection the focus is on the items that are not included in the permanent exhibition housed on the premises of the Ribnica Castle, yet they reveal another important aspect of the local ancestors' craft skills through their revealing nature.

The Arko - Miklov Collection is the most extensive collection, which is owing to Irena Arko, a descendant of the Miklov family, who has donated a large amount of the items related to her family to the Museum of Ribnica. The collection consists of a variety of items, including jewellery, postcards, clothing items, furniture, inn-related items and personal items. The current exhibition presents a tiny segment of the Miklov family collection: a coffee-making set; the set has been owned and used by the Miklov family throughout generations, which can be seen from the exhibited items. Drinking coffee, which was in the past considered luxury or quite possibly even a status symbol, is today a usual part of everyday life, however, a cup of coffee still remains some sort of a unique ritual and a reason for people to get together and chat.

A particularly interesting story is the story of a desk which features the owner's signature: J. Klun, a store with assorted goods and local produce in Ribnica. The signature was discovered earlier this year, when the items were being relocated to the new depots. Since the ownership has thus been established and because of the role the Bukovčan family had played within the history of the market town of Ribnica, which is in terms of exhibits not represented in our collections, the desk has been included in the exhibition and has for this purpose also undergone conservation and restoration.

In presenting different sets of items the focus is also on additional, more extensive stories, which are narrated by a person who was part of the story, the main protagonist or a relative. Our main aim is to set up a series of annual exhibitions to present individuals or families that were part of the history of Ribnica and have important stories to tell, which have often been forgotten, overlooked or lost.

The current exhibition presents the story of Dr Matevž Šmalc (1888–1960), who was born in Ribnica, in a ropemaker family. He was a translator, essayist, literary critic, linguist and the first secretary of the University of Slovenia. The memories of 'uncle Matevž' have been collected and written down for the Museum by his niece Tatjana Angerer.

Zbirka Suha roba in lončarstvo

Zbirka, ki predstavlja najznačilnejši ribniški obrti in je zagotovo najbolj prepoznavna zbirka ribniškega muzeja, je nastala predvsem v petdesetih, obsežnejšo dopolnitve pa je doživela v devetdesetih letih 20. stoletja. Od leta 2000 naprej se redno dopolnjuje. V zbirki se nahaja 1,125 računalniško obdelanih predmetov, od tega se jih na stalni razstavi v gradu nahaja preko tristo. V muzejskem arhivu se hrani tudi bogato fotografско gradivo, ki zajema na terenu posnete lončarje in suhorobarje iz omenjenega obdobja. Dragocen je tudi arhiv dokumentov, ki je povezan ali z izdelovanjem ali prodajo omenjenih izdelkov.

Tokratni izbor predmetov je osredotočen na predstavitev predmetov, ki jih ne najdemo na razstavi ali v objavah, predstavlja pa značilne izdelke obeh obrti in tradicionalna znanja rokodelskih veščin.

The Woodenware and Pottery Collection

The collection, which presents the two most typical and significant handicrafts of the Ribnica region and is undoubtedly the best known collection of the Museum of Ribnica, was for the most part acquired in the 1950s, while some extensive additions to the collection were made in the 1990s. Since 2000, it has been updated on a regular basis. The collection consists of 1,125 processed objects, whereof over three hundred are exhibited as part of the permanent exhibition housed in the Ribnica Castle. The museum archives also contain extensive photographic materials, which include photographs of potters and woodenware makers from the said period, taken as part of field work. Just as valuable are the archives containing the documents that are related to either the production or the sale of goods.

The selection of objects in the current exhibition is focused on presenting the items that are not included in the exhibition or are not mentioned in any publications, yet they represent typical products of both of the two crafts and traditional handicraft skills.

Zbirka Arko - Miklovi

Zbirka Miklove družine je najobsežnejša zbirka ribniškega muzeja. Miklova družina je bila ena izmed pomembnejših trških družin. Bogastvo njihove družinske dediščine, ki so jo podarili Ribnici – stavbo Občini Ribnica, predmete Muzeju Ribnica – je izjemna. Predmeti, ki jih je potomka Miklovih, Irena Arko, podarila Muzeju Ribnica, pomenijo pomemben del mozaika v predstaviti kulture in načina življenja Ribnice. Zbirka se je dopolnila od leta 1997 in se še vedno dopolnjuje. V tem času se je v naših depojih zbralo preko 2.500 predmetov (od tega je 1.560 računalniško obdelanih, ostalo pa so razglednice, nabožne podobice in fotografije, ki pa smo jih zaradi velike količine obravnavali v sklopu urejenih albumov).

Tokratni izbor je sestavljen iz pripomočkov za pripravo in pitje kave, saj so se prav v Miklovi gostilni enkrat tedensko srečevale premožnejše tržanke na »kofetnem krožku« ali na »damskih dnevih kave«.

Kavna zrna je Miklova mama tik pred uporabo spražila v posebni okrogli pripravi za praženje, na štedilniku je umaknila rinke in nad žerjavico vrtela napravo za praženje, da je dišalo po celi hiši. V kavnem mlinčku je zrna zmlela. Veljalo je pravilo: »Pravkar spražena kava, pravkar zmleta in skuhan ter takoj postrežena«.

Črno kavo so pripravili tako, da so posebej zavreli vodo z malo cikorije. V mašino za kofe so v zgornji del vlili vrelo vodo, od tam pa je ob straneh počasi odtekala v osrednji del, kamor so prej s posebno merico vsulili grobo zmleto kavo.

The Arko - Miklov Collection

The collection of the Miklov family is the most extensive collection of the Museum of Ribnica. The Miklov family was one of the most important families of the market town of Ribnica. The value of their family heritage, which has been donated to Ribnica (a building to the Municipality of Ribnica and the family objects to the Museum of Ribnica) is exceptional. The objects, which have been donated to the Museum of Ribnica by a descendant of the Miklov family Irena Arko, constitute an important part of the mosaic in the presentation of the local culture and the way of life. New items have been added to the collection regularly since the year 1997. Throughout this time, the objects housed in our depots have amounted to over 2,500 items (whereof 1,560 have been processed and the rest are postcards, holy cards and photographs, which have been recorded as albums on account of a large amount of individual items).

The selection of objects in the current exhibition consists of tools and items for preparing and drinking coffee, as more affluent female inhabitants of Ribnica were in the habit of meeting at the Miklov family restaurant once a week for a coffee get-together or the so-called 'ladies' days of coffee'.

Right before making coffee, the lady of the house – the mother of the Miklov family – would roast coffee beans in a special round roasting tool; she would remove the round stove top covers and spin the roasting tool over the coal, so the whole house would smell pleasantly. Then she would grind the beans in a coffee grinder. The following rule applied when it came to coffee: 'just roasted, freshly ground and brewed and served immediately'.

Black coffee was made by separately boiling some water with a little bit of chicory. Boiling water was then poured into the top part of the coffeemaker, from where it would slowly flow into the central part, where coarsely ground coffee had earlier been placed with a special measuring scoop.

/.../ Coffee was served in china cups – black coffee together with a heaping pile of whipped cream – and sweetened with sugar cubes. /.../ Whenever coffee or tea was served, the table would be covered with a nice looking tablecloth for special occasions.

Zbirka Klun - Bukovčanovi

Pisalna miza, nekoč v lasti ribniškega trgovca Kluna, je lep primer historičnega sloga s konca 19. stoletja. Za Muzej Ribnica je dragocena zaradi dveh razlogov – to je edini tovrstni kos pohištva, ki ga hranimo v naših zbirkah, in edini predmet, ki ga lahko neposredno povežemo z družino Klun (p. d. Bukovčanovi). Omenjena družina je od druge polovice 19. stoletja do druge svetovne vojne predstavljala pomembno trško družino, saj je s svojim delovanjem vplivala tako na gospodarsko kot družbeno sliko časa in kraja.

Bukovčanovi so se preselili iz vasi Bukovica v Ribnico okoli leta 1850. Prvi tako imenovani Bukovčan v Ribnici je bil Janez Klun. Njegov sin Josip, lastnik mize, pa je svoj poslovni uspeh ovečil tudi s prenovo hiše na prelomu stoletja, ko je le-to dvignil za nadstropje od ostalih ter ob strani naredil štukaturo J. KLUN in simbol Merkurja, ki nas še danes spominja na družinsko povezanost s trgovsko dejavnostjo. Na njihovo dejavnost pa nas spominja tudi miza, ki je bila hranjena v naših depojih, vendar brez kakršne koli evidenčne številke. Ob letošnji selitvi depojev je restavrator in konservator Roman Zupančič, ki je sodeloval pri selitvi, opozoril na njeno posebnost. Ob prvih pregledih se je našel podpis lastnika: J. Klun, trgovina z mešanim blagom in deželnimi pridelki v Ribnici, s čimer je bila utemeljena provenienca mize in s tem umeščenost predmeta.

Miza je bila ob tem tudi restavratorsko prenovljena in inventarizirana.

The Klun - Bukovčan Collection

The desk, which used to be owned by the local merchant Klun, is a fine example of the historic style of the late 19th century. For the Museum of Ribnica the desk is valuable for two reasons: because it is the only piece of furniture of this type, which is part of our collections, and because it is the only object that can be directly connected with the Klun family (informal name Bukovčan family), which was in the period between the second half of the 19th century and the Second World War an important family in the market town of Ribnica and has with its activity affected both the economic and social picture of the time and the place.

The Bukovčan family has moved from the village of Bukovica to Ribnica in approximately 1850. The first so-called Bukovčan in Ribnica was Janez Klun. His son Joseph, the owner of the desk, eternalised his business success by renovating the house at the turn of the century, when an extra storey was build and the stucco embellishment J. KLUN was added on the side, as was the symbol of Mercury, today reminiscent of the family association with the mercantile activity. Another thing reminiscent of the family business is the desk, which used to be stored in the museum depots, but with no heritage register number. Earlier this year, when the depots were being relocated, the restorer and conservator involved in the relocation, Roman Zupančič, pointed out a special feature of the desk. During the initial examination, the desk owner's signature was discovered – J. Klun, a store with assorted goods and local produce in Ribnica, whereby the origin and the ownership of the desk were established.

The desk has undergone restoration and has been included in the museum inventory.

Opis Description	Pisalna miza, slog historicem. Biološko in konstrukcijsko les v odličnem stanju. Zunanost in notranjost predalov močno poškodovana. Manjka tudi večji del okovja. Najdeni štirje različni podpisi oziroma štampiljke. Ključna oznaka za določitev provenienca (izvora) pa je napis J. Klun – trgovina z mešanim blagom in deželnimi pridelki v Ribnici . Miza restavrirana 2014 v restavratorski delavnici Romana Zupančiča. A desk, historicist style. In terms of biology and structure the wood is in excellent condition. The exterior and interior of the drawers are badly damaged. The major part of the hardware is missing. Four signatures/stamps found. The signature of key importance for determining the provenance is the inscription J. Klun - a store with assorted goods and local produce in Ribnica . The desk was restored in 2014 at Roman Zupančič's restoration workshop.

Zbirka Šmalc

Ta zbirka je v našem arhivu in depojih zastopana s fotografskim gradivom in s približno tridesetimi dokumenti oziroma predmeti.

Družina Šmalc je bila trška družina, ki se je ukvarjala z vrvarskega obrtja. Naj omenim potomce družine, ki so aktivno sodelovali pri oblikovanju zbirke za ribniški muzej: Marija Bavdaž, Andrej Šmalc, Ivana Dolenc, Mateja Šmalc in Tatjana Angerer. Vsi omenjeni so ne le predmetno, marveč tudi s svojim izjemnim darom pripovedovanja pomagali pri razumevanju časa in življenja ne samo v njihovi družini, ampak tudi v kraju samem.

Tokrat s pomočjo predmetov izpostavljamo dr. Matevža Šmalca (1888–1960): prevajalca, eseista, literarnega kritika, jezikoslovca, prvega tajnika Univerze v Ljubljani. Zgodbo o njem dopoljuje publikacija, ki jo je za to priložnost napisala njegova nečakinja, gospa Tatjana Angerer.

Matevž je bil bister, zelo zvedav, svojeglav in trmast otrok. Učitelji so hitro odkrili njegovo izredno nadarjenost in slo po znanju in kmalu je bilo tudi staršem jasno, da mora Matevž naprej v šole.

Sprva v gimnazijo v Ljubljano, a zaradi velike gorečnosti za slovenstvo, naprednih idej in kljubovalnosti so ga po tretjem razredu izključili iz vseh avstrijskih srednjih šol. Zato je odšel na Sušak, kjer je zaključil gimnazijo in z odliko maturiral.

Prav tisto leto je za posledicami ošpic umrla šestletna sestrica Pavla in Matevž, ki ga je njena smrt zelo prizadela, je resno razmišljal o študiju medicine. Rekel je, da ga vleče v raziskovalno smer. A gimnazijski profesor italijančine in francoščine na Sušaku je odkril njegovo zares nenavadno nadarjenost za jezike in prizadeval si je tako dolgo, da ga je prepričal in usmeril v študij romanistike. On mu je tudi utrl pot na univerzo v Firencah. Po prvem semestru je moral k vojakom, in ko je odslužil vojaški rok, je odšel študirat na Dunaj.

Iz gole radovednosti; Firence je že poznal in hotel je spoznati še Dunaj in almo mater skoraj vseh takratnih slovenskih izobražencev, je rekel.

Takrat se je med študenti kot blisk razširila novica s francoskega konzulata o možnosti študija francoščine na Sorboni, za kar je bila razpisana štipendija. A treba je bilo opraviti preizkus.

Matevž je poskusil in briljantno opravil preizkus. Takoj je dobil štipendijo in odšel v Pariz na Sorbono. Kasneje je spet odšel na Dunaj, kjer je študij leta 1915 zaključil z doktoratom.

The Šmalc Collection

The Šmalc Collection is represented in our archives and depots by means of extensive photographic materials and approximately thirty individual documents and objects.

The Šmalc family was a local family whose members earned their living with rope making. The descendants of the family who took active part in building up this collection for the Museum of Ribnica were Marija Bavdaž, Andrej Šmalc, Ivana Dolenc, Mateja Šmalc and Tatjana Angerer. Their contribution to the collection was not only in terms of the donated objects, but also through their remarkable gift of storytelling, which proved invaluable in helping understand the times and the way of life not only in their family, but also in Ribnica as such.

The focus of the current exhibition is Dr Matevž Šmalc (1888–1960): a translator, essayist, literary critic, linguist and the first secretary of the University of Slovenia. His story is supplemented through a publication prepared for this occasion by his niece Tatjana Angerer.

Matevž was a smart, very curious, headstrong and stubborn child. It did not take the teachers very long to discover his remarkable talent and desire for knowledge and his parents soon realised it was essential for Matevž to carry on with his education.

Initially, he went to the grammar school in Ljubljana, however, on account of his zealous support for the Slovene nation, his progressive ideas and defiance he was expelled from all Austrian secondary schools after completing his third year at school. He therefore relocated to Sušak, where he completed grammar school and graduated with distinction.

That same year, Matevž's six-year old sister Pavla died of measles and Matevž, who was hit hard by her death, was seriously thinking about studying medicine. He said himself that he was interested in doing research. However, his Italian and French teacher at the grammar school in Sušak discovered Matevž's truly extraordinary talent for languages and he persisted until he had persuaded Matevž into deciding on Romance studies. He was the one who paved Matevž's way to the university in Florence. After the first semester, Matevž had to join the army and as soon as he completed his military service, he went to study in Vienna.

He did this out of curiosity. He said that he was familiar with Florence and he now wanted to get to know Vienna and the alma mater of almost all of his contemporary Slovene intellectuals.

At that time, the news from the French consulate spread like fire among the students about the opportunity of studying French at the Sorbonne, for which a scholarship would be awarded. However, to get it, it was necessary to pass a test.

Matevž gave it a go and passed the test with flying colours. He was given the scholarship straight away and he left for Paris to study at the Sorbonne. At a later time, he went back to Vienna, where he completed his studies with a doctorate in 1915.
